Library Directory Listings

Each year the State Library sends annual report forms to California's academic, public, special, state agency, and county law libraries. Directory listings are published in this document; statistical data from those reports are tabulated in a companion volume, California Library Statistics. Although the statistics program and these publications are promoted as widely as we can, participation for most is voluntary (public libraries are required by the Education Code to report annually to the State Librarian) and some choose not to do so. This makes the state summary less than complete.

California cooperates with the National Center for Education Statistics in the collection of uniform public library statistical data nationwide for national compilation and publication, annually, in the federal Ed Tabs series of statistics for educational institutions throughout the United States.

FISCAL YEAR 2004 - 2005

For this fiscal year four hundred and eight libraries of all types submitted data to this program. We estimate there are at least 1,000 libraries in operation in California, exclusive of school libraries, so data in this publication is about 40% complete this year.

By type of library, those reporting data and included in this directory publication are:

179 public libraries:

- * By jurisdiction, there are 49 county, 111 city, 1 combined city-county, 12 district and 6 Joint Power Authority public libraries.

By level of service, in this fiscal year, California public libraries included:

- * 2,436 total public service points, including mobile library service stops.
- * 166 main libraries. Administrative headquarters are not included, and some county or district libraries have no main library.
- * 602 branch libraries. A branch is an extension library open some part of each of five days a week, has at least 1,400 square feet of floor space, a general book collection of at least 7,000 volumes, and is staffed with the equivalent of at least one librarian and one clerical employee during hours open for service.
- * 325 library stations. A station is a library structure smaller than a branch, providing a lower level of service.
- * There are 60 mobile libraries operated by 41 libraries with 1,343 mobile library stops. A mobile library stop is a location visited by a bookmobile or other traveling library.
- * Combining main, branch, station and the number of mobile libraries, there are 1,153 public library outlets reported. Excluding mobile libraries there are 1093 library outlets.

A few libraries are officially known by memorial or other names, but are shown here alphabetically by their city or district site.

California State Library

In 1850, California was admitted to the Union. That same year, the legislature, recognizing the need to have accessible facts, figures and documentation to support decision and policy-making, created the California State Library -- establishing its home in the State Capitol.

In 1928, the Library and Courts Building was completed to accommodate the State Library's growing collections and functions, as well as the Supreme Court Chambers and offices. This building was placed on the National Register of Historic places in 1984. In the spring of 1994, the Library and Courts II Building was completed to re-centralize all of the State Library's services in two neighboring buildings.

In mid-2002, the California Legislature voted to rename the Library and Courts Building the Stanley Mosk Library and Courts Building to honor the late state Supreme Court Justice Stanley Mosk, a California justice for 37 years.

Today the State Library stands as one of California's great public research institutions with a five-fold mission: serving the needs of elected officials and state agency employees; preserving the state's cultural heritage by collecting historic materials on California and the West; assisting public libraries through financial aid and consulting services; offering special services to disadvantaged and handicapped clients; and, ensuring that the general public has convenient and consistent access to its resources.

Our Charge

The California State Library is charged with performing the following activities as defined by law. The State Library, under the direction and control of the State Librarian, an appointee of the Governor, has responsibility:

- * To collect, preserve, generate and disseminate a wide array of information;
- * To serve as the central reference and research library for state government and the Legislature;
- * To advise, consult with, and provide technical assistance to and outreach programs for California's public libraries;
- * To direct state and federal funds to support local public libraries and statewide library programs; and
- * To develop automation systems to improve resource sharing and access to information.

Our Mission

The State Library is California's public research library that helps a diverse people, their governments and their libraries meet their knowledge and information needs.

Our Vision

As the 21st century unfolds, the California State Library is increasingly recognized as the most dynamic state library in the nation. This recognition arises from a number of factors: the excellence of its collection; its philosophy and practice of efficient service to state government, its primary client, as well as to the libraries, library networks and the general public; its advocacy and support of appropriate technology; its effective statewide leadership in library development; and its care for the heritage of California and the continuing well-being of Californians. Most importantly -- and supporting all these efforts -- the California State Library continues to be known for the expertise and esprit de corps of its staff, committed to the highest ideals of library and information service.

Our Values

Service

We believe that library and information service is essential to a learning society because information and knowledge are indispensable to the development of human potential, the advancement of civilization, and the continuance of enlightened self-government.

Customers

We believe that meeting the needs of our diverse customer base is first and foremost.

Quality

We value the importance of providing rapid and comprehensive access to knowledge and information and strive to constantly improve the services we provide to state government, the public and to each other.

Technology

We believe libraries must be active partners in the development and implementation of technology to ensure that access to knowledge and information will be equitably available to all.

Individuality

We respect the individuality and integrity of each customer and each employee, and foster an environment in which creativity, productivity and individual responsibility are encouraged, recognized and rewarded.

Teamwork

We believe that each individual is a member of the team, working together to serve our customers.

Services and Collections

The State Librarian is appointed by the Governor and administers the State Library. The Deputy State Librarian is also appointed by the Governor and is responsible for the day-to-day functions of the State Library. Library Development Services Bureau is the field arm of the State Library, including consultants and specialists who work with state institutions, libraries, systems, and networks of all types throughout the state, and local government officials and citizen groups. State Library Services Bureau provides library services to state government, the public, and to libraries throughout the state. The California Research Bureau provides specialized and in-depth research services for the Governor, Constitutional Officers, and State Legislators. The Information Technology Bureau oversees the library automation functions for the State Library. The Office of Library Construction administers the 2000 Library Bond Act.

The collections and services of the State Library are available to all, for in-library use. Materials are circulated to anyone in the State through local libraries by means of interlibrary loan. State officers and employees may borrow materials directly.

Additional information about the California State Library may also be found on our web site at <http://www.library.ca.gov>.

Collections

The State Library's collection is a research collection selected to meet the information needs of state government and all Californians by providing information and materials not in their local libraries. Strengths are in the wide-ranging areas of concern to California's government, including but not limited to:

- the economy
- business and industry
- education
- natural resources and development
- government and political science
- the social sciences
- technology and the applied sciences

Library of California Board

In September 1998, the Governor signed into law the Library of California Act. The California Library Services Board (CLSB) became the Library of California Board (LCB) in January 1999. The Library of California Board consisting of four members appointed by the Legislature and nine by the Governor determines policy for and authorizes the allocation of funds from programs of the Library of California Act and the California Library Services Act (CLSA). Members serve for four years, representing various constituencies, and also comprise the State Advisory Council on Libraries for the federal Library Services and Technology Act. The State Librarian serves as Chief Executive Officer of the Library of California Board.

CALIFORNIA STATE DOCUMENT DEPOSITORY LIBRARIES

In 1945, the California Legislature passed the Library Distribution Act (Government Code 14900 – 14913), which established the depository library program to make California state documents readily available to the citizens of the state. The California State Library is responsible for carrying out the provisions of the Act by developing and maintaining standards for depository libraries, granting depository status to libraries, and administering the depository program. Today a total of 131 libraries statewide participate in this program.

Under the provisions of the Act the libraries listed below have contracted with the Department of General Services to serve as complete or selective depositories. They agree to provide adequate facilities for the shelving and use of the publications deposited with them, render reasonable service without charge to qualified patrons, and retain all publications received until authorized to dispose of them.

Complete Depository Libraries

At least one copy of each state publication as defined in Government Code section 14902 must be placed on deposit with each complete depository. These are made available to the public during regular library service hours by these institutions. Complete contact information is available through the Government Publications web page at: http://www.library.ca.gov/html/gps_cal1.cfm

Selective Depository Libraries

Selective depositories receive one copy of each printed publication distributed by the Office of State Printing. They also receive on request publications distributed directly by issuing agencies. A special subset of the Selective Depository Libraries are the Law Libraries. They receive one copy of each printed publication from OSP and can request a single copy from issuing agencies. Law library depositories differ in having special document retention requirements pursuant to section

FEDERAL DOCUMENT DEPOSITORY LIBRARIES IN CALIFORNIA

A copy of the listing below with links to each library's website is available on the California State Library website at: <http://www.library.ca.gov/html/gps05a.cfm>

The Government Publications Section of the California State Library has been a federal depository since 1895, although its collection of United States documents reaches back over 100 years before that. The Section has been a Regional depository, the only one in California, since Congress established the Regional Depository System in 1962. As California's Regional depository the Government Publications Section works with the U.S. Government Printing Office to support the operations of over ninety California selective federal depository libraries. This partnership ensures that California's federal depositories are dynamic participants in the Federal Depository Library Program, providing vital federal government information to the residents of California. The Government Publications Section maintains the only complete collection of federal documents in the state. This comprehensive collection is cataloged and made permanently accessible to the public by the Government Publications Section staff. United States documents issued from July, 1976 forward, and an increasing number of pre-1976 documents, are represented in the State Library's online catalog; and all titles can be found in the various card files and printed indexes available in the Section. Additional information about the Federal Depository Program is available at: <http://www.library.ca.gov/html/gps02.cfm>.
